Gas-Link

From $100, 770/761-7967, www.gas-link.com

1 Made of high-density, marine-grade, UV-stabilized polyethylene, this 2'7"-tall standing funnel makes fueling easy. The 1'2"-by-1'4" body weighs 8 pounds and the funnel is 9" in diameter. An opening on one side stows the 5' hose when not in use. The marine-grade lid keeps out rainwater. The Gas-Link can be carried with molded handles on each side or mounted with molded openings for bolts. Choose gray, sandstone, or granite finishes.

Floating Hookah System

$2,495 to $2,995, 800/327-0412, www.browndive.com

2 What's hookah diving? One or more divers is supported by an air compressor, which pumps air through a hose with a regulator to divers below. This floating system, which stays on the surface, is driven by a gas-powered engine that can support three divers as deep as 90 feet for three hours on less than one gallon of gas. It stows easily and takes up less space than one set of scuba gear with two tanks.

Oris TT1 Watch

$2,495, 866/242-3600, www.oris-watch.com

3 Oris TT1 Divers Titan Chronograph is a professional sports watch with chronograph movement. The titanium case is water resistant to 1,000 feet. The thick sapphire crystal provides a clear view of the displays, which have luminescent inlays on a black dial. The Divers Titan Chronograph is equipped with a helium valve for deep diving. The watch comes with a black rubber strap, which has a titanium buckle and can be extended without any special tools. It's also available with a titanium bracelet. —KARI SNYDER
